ENGLISH CHARACTER

BETHANIA, January 13th, 1873.

Sometime ago I read a statement, made by an American, who was traveling in England, and contrasting the difference of character between the English and French, and he used the following as an illustration : "Suppose you are traveling on a railway and right opposite from you are seated an Englishman and a Frenchman, you are smoking a cigar and your clothes are set on fire from a spark, and both see it, the Frenchman would immediately apprise you of the fact, and assist in putting it out, the Englishman, on the contrary, would complacently fold his arms, look on with indifference, and let it burn until you found it out of your own accord, and inwardly chuckle at your mishap."

Now the impression left upon the mind, after reading the above, naturally is, that Cousin over the way is a surly, cross-grained, ill-natured sort of a fellow, and that so long as his supply of beef is am-ple, he does not care the snap of a finger for the rest of mankind. -

Some one has said, that the world is just what we make it, and nowhere is this more forcibly illustrated than in travelling. It ago, to be brought in contact with quite a number of Englishmen; they were men of culture, christian gentlemen, yet I confess I was afraid of them, and it was some time before we became acquainted; but when we did, my previous impressions were all upset; there was a whole-souledness about them that surprised me, and at the same time won my highest admiration. Among the number there was one, especially, (he has since died) who filled the

"Fine old English gentleman,

He was one of nature's noblemen, and although verging on fourscore years, his step was as clastic as if he were but forty, And then, to shake hands with him, ah that was something, none of your slight frigid touch-he had a large hand, the index of a larger heart, and the grasp was in accordance with the man; and whenever I was about to meet him I knew what was coming and prepared accordingly, by extending the right hand and grasping my shoulder with the left to keep him from pulling it out of the socket.

On one occasion I was indisposed and confined to my room for a week, and as soon as these Englishmen became aware of it, they came to see me every day and manifested the liveliest interest in my recovery,-no folding the hands in indiffer-

But it may be said these men were the exception, and do not fairly represent the national character. I entertained the same impression. So, after leaving Bremen harbor in the steamer Ohio, Captain Basse, bound for Baltimore, we stopped part of two days at Southampton to take in coal and block-tin. So like the little boy that was itching for a whipping, I would go among the common class and see if they would bluff me off.

My first experiment was down in the hold where they were stowing away the coal. I asked those swarthy coal heavers a price far above its value ($20,000) he a number of questions in reference to their avocation, and in every instance received a polite answer; then I went into auother epartment where the tin was being placed. Here there were a number of hands engaged, and one standing by in the capacity of an overlooker, as they are called here; he was a large, grim-looking man, and judging from his exterior I concluded I had at last found what I was in search of, and it was some time before I would venare to approach him, and at one time felt sposed to retreat, and be satisfied with my favorable impressions and carry the experiment no farther. But, upon second ight, I concluded to address him, let hought, I concluded to address him, let he result be ever so unfavorable. I did o; the rigid lines in his face at once became smooth, and in a pleasant way he mparted all the information I desired, not paly in answering my questions but in coluntarily communicating more than was sked for. This was on the first day of ur stay. The next morning I concluded to o on shore. London was only four hours ide from here, and I would have been glad a ran up, if it was only to say that I had sen there; but my friend and traveling ampanion and the ompanion, and the onfy person on board hat I knew, was an invalid and could not secompany me, and so I had to forego the wish. England, it is said, has but three days of subshine in a year, and for once the Fates were propitious in my behalf, and I got the benefit of two of them.

I thanked him for his well meant advice, and promised to heed it, which I accordingly did, and still got back in good time. Wrongs of the Italian Children.

[From the New York Tribune.] The most startling disclosure which has grown out of the large emigration from Italy is the fact that children are purchased from their parents and brought to this country to earn a living for their owners. The multitude of miserable little wretches who daily and nightly patrol the streets, annoy the passengers on the fer-ries, surround the doors of theatres and lecture-halls, belong to this class.

They are brought over in gangs and housed in large tenements in Crosby, Elizabeth, Thompson and Baxter streets. They are crowded into small, ill-ventilated, seems to be the misfortune of some people uncarpeted rooms, 18 or 20 in each, and to be jostled by every one they meet, for pass the night on the floor with only a the simple reason that they are not willing to give half the way, while others go in smoothly, pleasantly, and find a silver lining to every cloud that passes over them.

It was my good fortune, some years

It was my good fortune, some years room, after which they are turned out into the streets to beg or to steal until late at night.

More than this, when the miserable little outcasts return to their cheerless quarters they are required to deliver every cent which they have gathered during the day, and if the same be deemed insufficient the children are carefully searched and soundly beaten. In some instances they are treated inhumanly, and it is stated, upon the authority of Mr. Tinelli, of No. 3 Chambers street, that a fire-brand was in one instance applied to the feet of a child who had returned home without enough money to satisfy the demands of the land-

Mr. Tinelli stated that young Italian children frequently visited him and, after complaining of the ill-treatment that they received from their masters, lamented that their parents had ever sent them so far away to sorve such cruel people. He also stated that a man by the name of Sonsonni came to him some time since and desired legal assistance in regaining the custody of three small boys who had escaped to Morristown, N. J.

Having met with a rebuff, Sonsonni procured another lawyer, who went to Morristown to elaim the children, on the ground of a contract made in Italy between the parents of the boys and an importer of street musicians. So incensed were the people in Morristown, who had taken the children under their protection, that they compelled the lawyer to leave the town on the next train.

A marriage ceremony, says the Winsted Ot.) Herald, occurred in the classic locality f Sunkapogue, East Lyme, on Thanksgiving-day, which morits notice. It was celebrated at the residence of Deacon George Griswold. The bridegroom was John Griswold Rogers, a youthful bachelor of seventy-eight summers, who wooed and won his bride more than half a hundred years ago. The blushing bride was Eliza Denison Griswold, who is slightly past sweet sixteenthere having been several cold winters since then; at the present time she is of the mature age of seventy-nine. The coremony was performed by the Rev. L. S. Hough, of the Congregational Church.— Among the guests were two brothers of the bride, aged unitedly one hundred and thirty-one years. Another brother aged seventy-seven was absent. Allen Rogers, of New London, aged eighty-one, a brother of the groom, was detained at home. It will be seen that the couple belong to a leng-lived race, and they no doubt have many years of wedded bliss before them. The bride has lived all bor life in the house next the one in which the editor of this paper was born (and he is no spring chicken) and resided during the first four momentous years of his life, and among his earliest recollections is that of the lownlar Sunday evening visit to this identical maid. Unless we are greatly in error, the father of the Herald editor, the late Rev. H. L. Vaill, being then pastor of the church in Bast Lyme, "published" this couple about the year 1832 or 1833, and the wedding was expected to take place immediately thereafter. And so far as is known, there never was any misunderstanding, or unpleasantness, or miff, or flare-up that can be assigned as the cause of the delay. They have always been considered "en-gaged" both by themselves and the neighbors, and during a visit to East Lyme not very long ago we were informed that this ancient beau still made his every-other-Sunday-evening call, and had hardly failed to do so a single fortnight for sixty years! Cantious and prudent pair! If all followed their example there would not be so much unbappiness resulting from hasty

One would, however, arrive at a different opinion from the consideration of the way in which the business of the country is carried on. The retail tradesman has no right to give credit at all. Abstractly, and as a matter of ethical philosophy, it may be stated that no customer should purchase what he cannot af-ford to pay for. As a matter of fact, the very reverse is the case. Tradesmen give long credits, and half the people in England live and flourish, and cut a dash by cash payments, As it is, the system works badly in many ways. The tradesman makes bad debts, and loses his money, and the customer acquires a habit of exham, and so on; but Mrs. A. lives on credsult is one fine morning a general smash, and a great weeping and wailing among the tradesmen whom he has favored with his immediate patronage.

A professional hunter named Repzs was out hunting this week on Martin's Island, down the Columbia. The hunter was necompained by a young hound only, which started some animal a little distance away in the dense brush. Repzs rau from the the dense brush. Repgs ran from the thick timber in which he was standing toward the edge of the water. A clear space of several rods divided the brush and the river margin. On reaching the bank Repgs halted and placed himself in an attitude of defence. In a few minutes the hound emerged from the timber and came running toward its margin toward in the service of t ning toward its master. Immediately following the dog, and in hot pursuit, a large and ferocious panther bounded in sight. Repzs raised his gun to his shoulder and fired. er and "fackled" the hunter. The dog came to the rescue of his master, and made is so warm for the panther that it abandoned Repzs and turned on the hound. Repzs waded out toward the bank, turned around, and fired the second barrel of his gun at the panther. The load was large buckshot, and took effect in the panther's side. The wound was very severe, but did not entirely disable the animal, which was getting the best of the dog. Seeing that the hound would soon be drowned, Repzs resolved to rescue it if possible. He had discharged both barrels of his gun, and cast aside his large bowie-knife in the edge of the timber when he started to retreat to the water. No time, however, was to be lost, and Reyzs sprang into the river to save his dog. By this time the panther had lost much blood and was growing weak from exhaustion. The hunter, who was a powerful man, seized hold of the panther's head, and after a fierce "tussel" broke its hold on the hound. The panther now turned on Repzs. A long and desperate encounter ensued between the hunter, panther, and dog. At ast Repzs succeeded in keeping the animal's nose under water until it was quite dead; after which he drew the body to the shore and fainted from his wounds and exhaustion. The hunter was severely lacerated in the conflict, and has scarcely been able to leave his bed since. The hound is also badly torn.

It will be seen from the published correspondence in this issue, that Mr. McIver, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who was appointed by Gov. Caldwell to fill the unexpired term of S. S. Askley, refuses to vacate the office in favor of Kemp P. Buttle, recently appointed by Gov. Caldwell. The correspondence explains itself.

We seem to have a State Constitution and Laws, in these latter days, concerning the interpretation or meaning of which there are too many conflicting opinions; and yet it seems to be a very difficult matter to bring about a different state of af-

A HOPEFUL SIGN .- The Charlotte Observer thus speaks of the appointment of Kemp P. Battle, Esq., Conservative, as Superintendent of Public Instruction :

"The appointment of Hon. Kemp P. Buttle as Superintendent of Public Instruction, will give general satisfaction. He is "intelligent, educated and honest." A native North Carolinian, free from partizan bitterness, and full of energy, he will no doubt do much towards advancing the greatly neglected cause of education in this State.

"This appointment shows that his Excellency, Gov. Caldwell, is getting into a healthy state of mind relative to the discharge of the grave duties which devolve upon him as Chief Executive of North Carolina. It is a good sign when a Republi-can Governor has the moral courage to disappoint the numerous office-seekers in his own party and appoint a man from the ranks of his political opponents. He is the the only Republican Governor in the South who would have done such a thing; and he deserves commendation for it."

The President of the United States, says the Wilmington Journal, "has had an opportunity, which he did not fail to improve, to pay off Senator Schurz for his temerity in condemning the President's official course and joining the Liberal movement. Some days since Congress pussed a bill for the relief of Carl Jussen-Mr. Schurz's brother-in-law. For once in his life the President forgot his favorite doctrine that the 'Executive should have no policy opposed to the will of the people as expressed by their Representatives in the National Legislature,' and promptly vetoed the measure. What a glorious triumph over a political antagonist. The American Cæsar avenges himself upon his enemies by withholding from their relatives and connections money to which Congress says they are justly entitled.'

FARM WORK FOR JANUARY .- Under this head, an exchange has the following sensible remarks: "This first month of the year, we should form good resolutions; determine to exert all our energies to promote success in our honorable avocation : to review all our errors in farming the past year, and endeavor to correct them : lay out our plans for the year; be sure in doing so, not to aim at working more land than we have the means of working thoroughly, and the crops got in and cultivated and harvested in order and at the right times; having carried out these resolves. leave the fruition of our hopes to a benign Providence and we may be assured we shall not fail. Bloody Battle with the Modoc Indians--Captain Jack Victorious-Federal Loss.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20. - A dispatch 128 to 17, from Uroka to-day states that a messenger had just arrived at that place from the headquarters of Gen. Wheaton, commanding the troops in the action against the Modoc Indians, stating that a severe battle was fought last Friday by the troops under the command of Gen. Wheaton, consisting of about four hundred men.

The battle took place near the Eastern shore of Tale Lake. Capt. Bernard on Thursday went around the north end of the lake to the cast side, and to the east of Capt. Jack's position. He was to advance against Capt. Jack from the east, and Gen. Wheaton from the southwest, the force of the latter to be under cover of the fire of the howitzers. On Thursday night such a dense fog enveloped the country that they could not see forty yards. The two forces were about twelve miles apart, though to communicate with each other it was necessary to go to a much greater distance. On Friday morning Capt. Bernard opened battle against Capt, Jack, who had about 200 warriors concented among the rolls along a line of two miles in length. Gan-Wheaton heard the firing and had no atternative but to move to the aid of Capt. Bernard with five of his howitzers. Mr. Trumbull replied, agreeing with Morton in some respects, but disserting from some of his views as to the proper remedy. The founders of our government, he said, intended to found a republic, not a pure democracy. It was not intended the majority should have all the power; and to put the government on that basis would prepare the way to a dspotism.

ed in the chancel of St. James' Church Lenoir, Caldwell county, the result of nearly two years' labor, and presented it to the church. The work consists of a painting and its frame. The painting, on a back ground of gold, shows the Saviour offering bread and wine to a male and a female communicant, and is characterized by the same depth of religious feeling and faithfulness of rendering that, in his former painting, have given the distinguished artist so high a rank among the professors of Christian art. Beautiful as the picture is, however, it is more than matched by the exquisitely carved and elaborated frame. This is an architectural design and reminds one of the portal of some mediaval cathedral. There are the arch The loss to the troops was forty killed and pillars of the doorway-the buttresses the sloping roof—the lofty spires and the cross that crowns the structure. Over the picture, forming the arch, is a strikthe picture, forming the arch, is a strik-ingly natural representation in chestnut wood, of grapes and heads of wheat. The fruit—the foliage and even the tendrils of the former being carved with an exactness that would be surprising even were the material better adapted to a work of such infinite delicacy. The slopes of the roof are adorned with crockets, seemingly alike, but in truth each in some slight particular varying from the other. On each side of the roof are pinnacles-back of them stand two angels—with wings folded as if they had just alighted there—and crowning the whole towers a double cross. On every part of this masterpiece, composed of over four hundred pieces of wood, chestnut, oak, poplar, holly, cherry, beech and pine-where work could be put, it has been lavished. Every part susceptible of orna-mentation has been beautified by the touch of carving tools wielded as deftly as the artist's brush. OFFICE SUP'T PUB. INSTRUCTION, Ruleigh, N C., Jan. 16th, 1873. Hon, Kemp P. Battle: Dear Sir :- I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th inst., giving notice of your appointment by his Excellency Gov. Assured as I am, from an acquaitance with you of more than twenty years of your eminent fitness for the duties of the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, I would cheerfully surrender the office to you if I believed that my term of office had expired, or that the commission under which you claim is legal.

By the first section of Article III of the State Constitution, the term of office of all officers of the Bietutive Department shall commence on the first day of January next after their election and continue entitled.

next after their election, and continue until their successors are "elected and qualified." By section 13 of the same article: If the office of any of the officers shall be vacated have been found, evidently the remains of an extinct species of the human race, far more gigantic than the race that now inhabits the earth.—Alabama Evchange.

> Mr. Reid had not been invested with the office, and, therefore, he was not an officer. The office of Superintendent of Public Instruction never became the office of Mr. Reid, and therefore was not vacated by continues the term of the present incum bent, and no vacancy has occurred. It is reasonable that the constitution should des-ignate the person, if it has a suitable per-son on hand, to continue in office in case son on hand, to continue in office in ease the person dies or refuses to qualify; and the Constitution of North Carolina does this very thing. It continues the term of the incumbent until his successor is "elected and qualified." No vacancy occurred, and his Excellency had no authority to grant the commission to which you refer; and for that reason the commission is null and void.

I, therefore, most respectfully decline to surrender to you the office of Superinten-dent of Public Instruction.

PAPER MILL BURNT .- AN OLD LAND-MARK GONE .- On Sunday morning last, about 11 o'clock, the Paper Mill, some 1 of a mile West from this place, was discovered to be on fire. At the time of its inside and in the room occupied by Mr. discovery, the building was ablaze and Bragg, who, some weeks ago, shot and nothing could be done to save any of the killed a man by the name of Vaughn. property. Upon the usual fire alarm being given in town, a number of our citi- seems that Bragg managed in some manzens repaired to the scene of destruction, ner to get clear of his irons, and taking but were unable to be of any assistance, as the fire had gained too much headway, he could no longer confine the fire in one Fortunately the wind, which at one particular place, and knowing that unless time threatened to drive the sparks the flames were soon extinguished he must towards the dwelling house occupied by perish, he gave the alarm. Mr. Samuel Thomas, changed and thus saved it from destruction. The loss is estimated at $8,000. No insurance.

The main building of the mill had been standing about 81 years, having been completed in 1791, by Rev. G. Shober, and was at the hips. The horns of this stray beast, probably the first paper mill established in instead of projecting out like the common the South, and for many years the only deer, inclined back towards the neck, and one in the State.

The old process of hand-made paper was and infirm, transferred the property to his son, Emanuel Shober, who sold it to John C. Blum, by whom it was much improved by additional machinery, and run some nine or ten years. It was then purchased by David Clewell, and after a few years, fell again into the hands of Emanuel Shober. At his death, Francis Fries leased the property for a term of years, adding new machinery. After the expiration of rapid approach of despotism. which time it became the property of Chas. E. Shober, who, upon removing to Greensboro, sold it to Shelly & Patterson, of whom the present proprietor, Mr. Robert Gray, of Winston, purchased it .-Mr. Gray had just put the whole mill in good repair and increased its capacity considerably, at a cost of some $4,000.

The origin of the fire was accidental, supposed to have been caused by some defeet in the furnace under the boiler,

The Salem Paper Mill was well known throughout the whole Western portion of the State, and it is very much to be regretted that it was destined finally to become a prey to the devouring element.

SAD ACCIDENT .- On Tuesday morning last, Mr. J. R. Crist, employed in Mr. Crosland's Grocery Store, was fearfully, if not fatally burnt, by falling into the fire in an epileptic fit. Being alone in the store at the time, his head and shoulders were badly burned, destroying his left eye and car, before his situation was discovered by a customer entering the store, and whose attention was attracted by the Drs. Keehln, Siewers and Bahnson were called in, and everything was done to alleviate the sufferings of Mr. Crist, who appeared to be quite unconscious. Upon his removal to the residence of Dr. Keehln, where soothing applications were applied, he seemed to revive sufficiently to recognize his family and friends, and expressed surprise at his condition. During the afternoon he was taken to his residence, and is now lying in a critical condition.

The Young Men's Missionary Society celebrated its thirty-second anniversary on Saturday evening last. Rev. A. L. Oerter conducted the services and read the Secretary's Annual Report. The Society, financially speaking, is in a good condition .-Rev. M. E. Grunert delivered the annual address. The services were interesting and enjoyed by a large number of the friends of the Society.

ORDINANCES CONCERNING FIRE.

SEC. 1. No person shall keep hay, straw or fodder, in any building where fire is kept, either constantly or occasionally; nor in any place particularly exposed to danger from fire. Penalty.-Five dollars for each offence.

SEC. 2. No person shall carry or suffer to be carried any candle lamp or other light, except in a safe lantern; neither a lighted cigar or smoke-pipe, into any stable, barn or other house where there be hay, straw or fodder.

Penalty .- Two dollars for the first, and four dollars for every subsequent offence.

SEC. 3. Any powder kept within the corporate limits must be placed in buildings where no fire is used, and into which no lights are carried. That kept in stores or other places for sale, must be carefully secured in a tin canister not exceeding one Penalty.-For each offence, twenty dollars.

SEC. 4. No person shall use any wooden chimney, or any fire-place, without good and safe jams and hearth.

Penalty.-Five dollars for each offence; and one dollar for every day such chimney or fire-place is used or left standing after notice from the Mayor to remove or repair the same.

SEC. 5. Any person whose chimney or stove-pipe shall take fire or burn, except in wet weather, shall be subject to a fine of four dollars.

SEC. 6. No person shall fire a gun or pistol, or make any explosion of gun-powder for purposes of sport or amusement, within the corporation, unless by written consent of the Mayor. Penalty.-One dollar for each offence.

SEC. 7. No person shall explode any fire-works or raise any balloon, unless by written permission of the Mayor; nor shall any person carry fire in a careless and negligent manner in the streets or thickly settled places in the town.

Penalty.—Ten dollars for each offence.

SEC. 8. No person shall keep unleached ashes in any vessel made of wood or other combustible material within fifteen feet of any building; nor run a stove-pipe or chimney through the wall, ceiling or roof of his building in such a manner as to endanger his or his neighbor's property.

Penalty.-Five dollars for each offence. SEC. 9. The Mayor or any two Commissioners, when ordered so to do by a majority of the Board, shall have a right to enter any dwelling or premises, to examine whether in the construction of new or the altering and repairing of old buildings, due regard is had to the security against fire; and if they dicover any construction, alteration or repair, that is not in accordance with these Ordinances, or that in their opinion might endanger the property of the owner or his neighbors, such shall be reported, and any order that the Board may make shall be binding on the person so building, altering or neglecting to repair. So also if the Board consider that in a building already erected, alterations should be made, or even buildings or parts of buildings be removed to render the property more secure against the danger by fire, the owner shall be bound to obey such order.

Penalty.—Any person refusing or neglecting to comply with any order so made, shall be fined ten dollars, and one dollar per day until the order is complied with.

Sec. 10. There shall be no kiln for the purpose of curing or drying lumber by fire erected in the town of Salem; neither shall such as are now erected and used for that purpose, be so used without first obtaining written permission signed by the Mayor. Any person having or using such a kiln for aforesaid purposes without such permission, or after such permission has been withdrawn, shall pay a fine of ten dollars for every day he has fire in the same, or any furnace or stove connected therewith.

Penalty .- Five dollars for every offence. SEC. 3. No person shall deposit the carcass of any dead animal on any street or vacant lot; nor shall any one suffer such carcass to remain upon their premises longer than 12 hours af-

Penalty.-Five dollars for each offence.

SEC. 4. There shall be no slaughter-houses erected within the town of Salem, neither shall such as are now erected be used for slaughtering without first obtaining permission from the Board of Commissioners in writing, signed by the Mayor. Any person using such slaughter-house without the aforesaid permission, or after such permit has been withdrawn, shall pay a fine of one dollar for every animal slaughtered therein.

SEC. 5. No person shall place anything on the streets, gutters or side-walks, which would obstruct a free passage.

Penalty.-One dollar for each day such obstruction remains. after being notified to remove the same.

SEC. 6. No buildings shall hereafter be put up, any part of which would obstruct the sidewalk; and it shall be the duty of the owner or lessee of any house or lot in the town of Salem. to have before his or her lot a good side-walk of such width. grade and material as the Board of Commissioners may direct. and who may also at their discretion order side-walks to be made along the sides or rear of lots, and kept in order by the and is remarkable for variety of style, by which we can receive in a few days any owners of the lots.

Penalty .- One dollar for each day such obstruction is not removed, or the order relative to the side-walk is not complied with, after the day fixed for the completion of the same.

SEC. 7. No person shall feed any stock on the side-walk.

Penalty.-Two dollars for every offence. SEC. 8. No person shall leave his wagon, carriage or other chicle standing on the streets or side-walks over night; nor deposit his fire-wood, nor place any other obstruction on the same for a longer time than the said wood or obstruction can in a reasonable length of time be removed on the inside of his lot, except by permission of the Mayor. Neither shall any person fly a kite, nor roll iron or other hoops, for sport, on any of the main streets of Salem.

Penalty .- Two dollars for each offence.

SEC. 9. No person shall maliciously or mischievously pull down, cut, deface, or otherwise injure any of the Advertisements, Trees, Public Lamps, Lamp-Posts, Pumps, Wells, Ladders, Fences about Public Squares or Lots, Fire Apparatus, Horse-Troughs, Racks, or any other fixtures, put up for ornament or public convenience.

Penalty.-Ten dollars, over and above the cost of the damages, which must be paid by the offender.

SEC. 10. No slut to run at large in the streets of Salem, after having been reported as a nuisance.

Penalty.-Twenty dollars; and in case no owner can be found, it shall be the duty of the Town Officer to take up such slut and destroy her.

SEC. 11. No cow or other stock which may prove troublesome or dangerous, on account of vicious and mischievous habits, or may otherwise become a nuisance, shall, upon complaint being made to the Mayor, under oath, be permitted to run at large in the streets of Salem. And the Mayor shall notify the owner to for his head, we offer an inspection of and give our customers the benefit of the that effect. publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves there ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure: the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—
For Dyapepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languer and Loss of Appetite, hey should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Billous Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Billous Colic and Billous Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhoes, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Geut, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Mide, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner PIII, take one or two PIIIs to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PIIIs makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical Chemist LOWELL, MASS., U. S. A.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation; which is due to merit alone. We which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic prop-erties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPA-RATION for its intended purposes."
